Wanhuida Partner speaks at JIPA Symposium

Media Center > Events

On July 23, 2025, the Japan Intellectual Property Association (JIPA) convenes an overseas-themed symposium for its membership, which attracts about 300 practitioners attending either online or in person.

Lei Yongjian, Partner, Wanhuida Intellectual Property, is invited to share insights on “Bad Faith Trademark Filings in China & Latest Developments on Countermeasures against Copycats”.

Mr. Lei prepares the floor on the status quo of bad faith trademark filings and registrations in China. He then elaborates on the legislative amendments, and the viable administrative enforcement and judicial routes in stemming the problematic filings and registrations. He concludes the presentation with key takeaways on the remedial approach in addressing infringer’s weaponising of bad-faith trademarks in committing infringement.

In the ensuing Q&A session, Mr. Lei answers the questions raised by attendants with clarity and eloquence.

The firm’s Partner He Shanmei attends the event in the capacity of interpreter. Partner Liu Bin is also present.
